RFP No. RFP-023-C-2020 (P)

Pursuant to 31 V.I.C. 239 (a) (4) and Rules and Regulations thereunder issued, the Government of the Virgin Islands, hereinafter referred to as GVI, Department of Property and Procurement shall receive proposals for the work described below on behalf of the Department of Public Works. Proposals shall be received no later than Tuesday, July 28, 2020 at 4:30 p.m. Atlantic Standard Time.

DESCRIPTION OF WORK:

The Scope of Services (SOS) under this contract will include providing personnel and equipment for land survey, environmental, and design services to improve drainage along Route 76 of what is known as Mahogany Rd on St. Croix, U.S.V.I. Design should include a hydrological and hydraulic (H&H) study, technical feasibility study, evaluation of alternatives, cost effectiveness analysis, environmental review, and the preparation of detailed PS&E (plans, specifications, and estimate) of the preferred alternative. Payment for these services will be based on a negotiated Lump Sum amount for each itemized task.

OVERVIEW:

The propose of this project is to address stormwater runoff issues along Mahogany Road within the La Grange Ghut watershed. The scope of work at present is conceptual; the full scope of work and drainage solutions cannot be determined until a full analysis of the area is conducted and the project's design and engineering are complete. The full scope, to be developed based on the results of design and engineering analysis, is likely to include a combination of mitigation measures such as the construction of ditches and culverts, concrete outlet pipes, and retention ponds and catchments.

This project addresses stormwater runoff issues along Mahogany Road within the La Grange Ghut watershed. The project will be a component of the VI Dept of Public Works' (DPW) larger capital improvement roadway project of Mahogany Road (Route 76). The project will be phased. Phase 1 of the project will be to perform a hydrological analysis of the watershed and to develop engineered mitigation measures. The second phase would be the implantation of the designed measures.

The mitigation measures will address two areas of concern. The first in the upper section of La Grange Ghut where it starts high in the rainforest above Frederiksted. The majority of the runoff from this large catchment area is collected in La Grange ghut which Mahogany Road runs parallels too. In this area, there are localized areas of flooding of Mahogany Rd due to poor roadside drainage which results in road closures and damage to the roadbed. There is an area of bank erosion that is creating the potential for a complete washout of Mahogany Road. The area also contributes silt laden runoff to the lower watershed and ocean. This large volume of runoff diverges from Mahogany Road near its intersection with No Name Rd. (connection from Mahogany Rd. to Estate La Grange area), bearing south to enter the La Grange Plantation area then onto the north edge of the village area of Frederiksted. During a 15-year rain event this flow contributes to flooding of this area causing damages to residences and even an incident of loss of life due to flooding of No Name Rd. The last 1,800 feet of La Grange Ghut is part of a flood control project currently under design by the US Army Corps of Engineers (USACE). This USACE project will have no impact on the upper watershed where this project is located. The middle area of the watershed sustained considerable damage to the local roads and will receive various stormwater mitigation measures are part of FEMA's Public Assistance Program's (PA) 406 Mitigation.

The second area of concern is the portion of Mahogany Road west of the location where La Grange ghut bears south away from Mahogany Road. At this location, a large subwatershed that historically would have entered La Grange ghut, has been diverted by the construction of Mahogany Road and now all the subwatershed's runoff flows down the roadbed. Mahogany Road, in this section is sunken between berms with large Mahogany trees which create a channel for this runoff. By having the road act as the ghut, the road is often impassable, and the road's subgrade is saturated with subterranean water much of the time even when there is no water visible on the roadway. This creates frequent and numerous pavement failures. Under flooding conditions, the road is impassable, and this flow contributes to flooding of several residences along the road.

The hazards in the upper section include:

- Fatally dangerous flooding of Mahogany Rd. and No Name Rd. <https://stcroixsource.com/2010/11/11/body-st-croix-flood-victimrecovered/>
- The danger of vehicular damage and personal injuries due to accidents caused by deteriorated roadway drivability
- Erosion of the stream bank which has created the potential for a complete washout of Mahogany Road.
- Lack of access to houses due to road closures in an area with limited alternative access which typically also floods simultaneously with Mahogany Rd.

- Damage due to sedimentations being transported to lower watershed and ocean.
- Flooding of houses and businesses in lower watershed and village of Frederiksted

The hazards in the lower section include:

- Flooding of Mahogany Rd.
- The danger of vehicular damage and personal injuries due to accidents caused by deteriorated roadway drivability
- Lack of access to houses due to road closures in an area with limited alternative access which typically also floods simultaneously with Mahogany Rd.
- Damage due to sedimentations being transported to lower watershed and ocean.
- Flooding of houses and businesses on Mahogany Rd.
- Loss of opportunities for groundwater recharging to prevent saltwater intrusion into aquifer.
- Risk of drought and its effects on commercial cattle grazing along south side of Mahogany Rd.
